

Dear Reader,

I wanted to thank you for choosing "Lessons Learned on Daddy's Lap". The poems, comments, and insights placed within this book are direct gift from God. He is the author; I am merely the scribe who is as inspired by the writings as I hope you will be. I claim no special insight or wisdom in the works that you will be reading. They are simply what flowed from my pen and heart while sitting on Daddy's lap. I feel so blessed and honored to be able to share with you what He has shared with me during our times together.

The pieces in here cover many years, growth times, sorrows, and joys. I trust He has arranged them into a meaningful journey through the learning seasons. This is my scrapbook and as so confines of time lines and thought progressions are suspended. There may even be times that a second piece is included that is very similar to one already read. The subtle changes are how He showed me another aspect of the thought we were sharing. Please forgive me and indulge a little child as she "posts all her pictures on the fridge" for Daddy to see.

Still learning too!
Annette Vincent
