

IN THE TOOL BOX

I know You use us all as we are too, but I don't feel very useable or glorifying to You right now. Truth is, I feel worthless as a tool for You. Kind of like a screwdriver trying to do the job of a hammer. Being beaten to pieces with every job I try. Maybe I need to start looking for jobs that use screws and not nail. There I could be useful.

