

Whose plan is it?

Man's schemes and plans come to nothing if God is not in them. Especially if God has already said something else is going to happen. God is not dependant on men to work out His plans. He can make them happen in any way He chooses. He does use man (us) quite often though. He also directs us in what to do and where to go to bring His perfect plans into our lives. He is not up in heaven just "playing with His toys" but is working out in our lives the best most wonderful plans He has ever made for each of us. Even me! It is not up to me to make it happen. He makes it happen. It happens easier and quicker when I don't fight against His directions. Stay on His road and it will lead me to the perfect spot that He has prepared for me.

His provisions are enough.

God provides the reward, the path, the plan, and the talents. He expects me to follow the path and plan, using the talents He provided, to reach the reward He has established. I am not walking on unknown roads! I'm walking on God's prepared paths!
